Yağız Çağlar is an Executive Assistant based in the Turkish office, where he efficiently and professionally supports daily operations. His multifaceted role includes serving as a Research Assistant across diverse projects, specializing in new market development, data interpretation, statistical analysis, and internal communications management.

A graduate of Bocconi University, Yağız holds a degree in International Economics and Management, reflecting his keen analytical mind and passion for understanding global economic dynamics. With a profound interest in logic and mathematics, he thrives on solving complex problems and exploring numerical patterns. During his studies, Yağız was co-founder of the Bocconi Student Capital Partners, which focused on market research and stocks.

A sports enthusiast, particularly in basketball and soccer, he is fascinated by the strategic maneuvers and statistical insights involved in these games.
